This image is a screenshot of a patent database interface, heavily annotated with red and green lines and text boxes. The interface includes a top navigation bar with a red line, a search area, and a main content area displaying a list of patent entries. A prominent red line runs horizontally across the top. A green callout box at the top center contains the text "Click here to return to Activities". A red callout box on the left side says "Click here edit". Another red callout box on the left says "on this page". A large green callout box in the center says "Use Select Columns to show only columns you would like". The interface features several filter sections, including "Filters: None" and a list of filters such as "Patent of Invention", "Patent Copyright Renewal", "Patent", "Reg. Pat. Submitted to University", and "Patent of Application". A table of patent entries is visible at the bottom, with columns for "Year, Date of Patent Application" and "Date of Patent Applications". The table contains several rows of data, including patent numbers and dates.
